Sarah,

Attached below are the pictures of the choke points. In the order of Beachwood, Ledgewood, Vista, and Deronda
The only problems that slowed down traffic was when people made:

U-turns

Asking for directions / trails

Slowing to take pictures / lookie-loo

Other issues that came up were those smoking, especially at the vista. I placed a call to the Hollywood division watch commander and a car came back to the area immediately.

I accidentally clicked send but here are more photos. With the vista and Deronda.

Overall there were no traffic issues that were severe today. The reason why yesterday was so severe was that parking enforcement was not deployed for the full shift.

In terms of enforcement, LAPD was actively enforcing smokers and moving citations and parking enforcement was at the checkpoints directing traffic and checking parked vehicles for parking violations. Park rangers were actively visible directing those that were driving that they should not be stopping and move traffic along.

I did however not see LAFD, I did hear from one of the parking officers they saw them today but I was not able to see them.

A u turn is legal on a 2 way street if there is no opposing traffic within 200 feet of you. I imagine when they start the turn they don't realize how narrow the streets really are.
